

Year 2 Home Learning Maths Week 4

LO: To be able to reason.

Statement One - If you add two odd numbers together the answer is always odd. True or false?

Statement Two - If you double an odd number the answer is always even. True or false?

Statement Three - If you halve any even number the answer is always odd. True or false?

Statement Four - There are only ten numbers that have the digit 1 as their first number. True or false?

Statement Five - If you divide any even number by an even number the answer is always even. True or false?

Statement Six - When I add two consecutive numbers together the answer will always be odd. True or false?

Statement Seven - A number with a 9 in the tens place will be bigger than a number with a 4 in the tens place. True or false?

Statement Eight - It does not matter what order you do an addition or subtraction calculation in. True or false?