

In the early morning, Jamina went with her grandfather to look for some honey. As they walked, Jamina told her Grandfather about her dreams for the future that she wanted to be a hunter! Little did she know what that would involve.

In her daydream, Jamina wandered off from her grandfather and heard a loud, sad but terrifying noise. Without hesitating, she looked for what was causing such a horrific noise and came across a lifeless elephant and its helpless calf.

